Four Youngsters Raise $43.00 For Milk Fund

Held Two Day Carnival;
Raffled Dolls and Doll Crib;
Money Turned Over to Milk
Fund

On Monday, Oct. 4 and on Saturday, Oct. 10, four youngsters, Eileen Kennedy, Mary Hopkins, Robert Hill and Kenneth Fry, sponsored a two day carnival. It has been recorded in last week's Journal how they got busy and solicited odds and ends from their parents, friendly store keepers and neighbors for something which they could sell. The first day's receipts totalled $17.74.

Their stock was mostly sold on the first day and by Saturday they had replenished their supply. In addition Louise Aboussafy donated a doll's crib and the Misses Pat and Jean Parker each donated a doll. Raffle tickets were made on the crib and dolls. Winner of the crib was Mrs. L. Fauville and the dolls were won by Mrs. Yates and Mrs. E. J. Liesemer.

Patronage at the carnival was very good and all goods were sold on the last day.

Total receipts for the two days amounted to $43.00. The youngsters came to the Journal office on Tuesday morning to let the editor look at the large sealer jar filled to the brim with money. They then went to the Coleman Cash Grocery store where Mr. Allan took custody of their money on behalf of the Kinsmen's club of Lethbridge, who are sponsors of the Milk for Britain Fund in this district.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

School bells chimed Tuesday morning calling to the class rooms six hundred or more students who had enjoyed one of the longest summer recesses in provincial school history.

The majority of the local students had returned from vacations some weeks ago while others who had been working during the summer vacation have been enjoying the past week as their first real week's vacation.

It is not expected that due to the late commencement of school that there will be any late comers. In the past teachers have had to deal with students arriving days and possibly a week late for classes.

At the present time teachers are working out suitable timetables and once they have been planned to everyone's satisfaction the school studies will get away to a smooth start.

GENERAL SIKORSKI LIES IN STATE IN LONDON

The body of General Sikorski, Polish Prime Minister and Commander in Chief, was brought to London for the lying-in-state. A Requiem Mass was held at Westminster Cathedral. Mr. Churchill, paying homage to the great Polish patriot, described his death as "one of the heaviest strokes we (the United Nations) have sustained." General Sikorski had commanded the devoted loyalty of the Polish people in their struggle against German oppression, a struggle which he personally directed. Picture shows General Sikorski lying in state at the Polish Embassy in London.

Big Victory Loan Concert To Be Featured In Community Hall On Sunday Afternoon At 3 O'Clock

Flight Sergeant A. Clifford, D.F.C., To Be Main
Speaker; No. 7 S.F.T.S. Macleod Band And Air Force Artists To Be Heard

FLASH:

Washington has sanctioned the visit to Southern Alberta of Major George F. O'Neill, one of the first American officers to land in North Africa at the time the Allies invaded North African shores. Major O'Neill will give his services to the Southern Alberta publicity committee during the week end and is scheduled to speak at the local concert being held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Major O'Neill has a thrilling story to tell of the early days of this invasion and one that nobody should miss.

Citizens of Coleman and other Pass towns will gather in the Community hall on Sunday at 3 p.m., where they will be treated to another of those Grand Victory Loan shows. Appearing will be the No. 7 S.F.T.S. band from Macleod, along with artists from the Lethbridge and Macleod air schools.

Highlight of the entire program will be the appearance of Fli. A. Clifford, D.F.C., who has just recently returned from the North African and Mediterranean battle zones, who will give a first hand account of the fighting in those areas, the wastage of material

Cafes Suffer From Food And Labor Shortages

Grand Union and Coleman Cafe Are Now Closed One Day In 7; Union Investigating Matter.

It appears that the cafe situation locally has reached a point that warrants investigation. The Grand Union Coffee Shop is closed every Sunday, the Coleman Cafe is closed every Monday. The White Lunch is open but claims it can only serve its regular patrons on Tuesday due to food quotas. The dining room in the Empire hotel has closed down. Miners depend on cafes for meals have appealed to their union to aid them. Since the Empire hotel dining room closed down the miners who had their meals prepared and buckets filled there naturally had to go elsewhere. The Coleman Cafe closing down on a Monday has aggravated the situation as more miners have to find new eating places and find some place to have their buckets made up.

The union finds that the White where fighting is heaviest and the need of all Canadians to invest in Victory Bonds.

The band will be composed of thirty-one pieces. Other artists include LAW Dorothea Simpson, Majorette Supreme of the RCAF, who will demonstrate her skill with the baton; Cpl. Lou Ingham, well known English pianist, formerly with London's leading dance bands and who has been heard over the BBC; Sgt. J. P. Blair, tenor, who will thrill with a number of popular songs, and AW2 Tipping, who is also a songstress of popular songs.

The program also includes two short speeches from local men, Pete Moronek, who will speak in Russian, and Eddie Churia, who will speak in the Polish language.

The public is asked to be in their seats in the hall shortly before 3 p.m. The artists have to leave immediately at the conclusion of the Coleman show for Macleod, where they are scheduled to put on another show at 9 p.m., and for that reason the program will start sharply at 3 p.m.

The band will arrive in the Pass at approximately 11:30 a.m. and will play numbers at Maple Leaf, Bellevue, Hilcrest and Blairmore before arriving at Coleman.

Lunch is open every day, but due to food quotas they can only take care of their own patrons on Tuesdays.

Labor shortage affects the Grand Union and Empire hotels and the Coleman Cafe, the latter also being hard hit by shortages of sugar and meat.

Another matter that causes a little dissatisfaction is that one buys a meal ticket in one cafe and when that cafe is closed one is forced to use ready money when patronizing another cafe.

Sports' Assoc. to Hold Semi- Annual Meeting

President and His Committees to Submit Reports; Will Reveal Plans for Winter Months.

Coleman Community Sports' Association will hold its first semi-annual meeting in the Community hall on Sunday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

President Wm. Field, Secretary Steve Ondrus and Treasurer Joe Emmerson along with the chairmen of the respective committees will submit reports on the association's summer activities and what is planned for the fall and winter months.

Repairs to the arena is certain to create much discussion and it is the hope of the association committee that many members will attend in order that they may obtain the feeling of the membership as to the extent of the repairs to be made to the arena.

An appeal is being made to the youth of Coleman between the ages of 8 and 16 years desiring to play hockey to list their names with Bill Gate at the Red & White store. Proper supervision will be given these youngsters on the ice so that no harm will become them and also see that they have every facility to become top-notch hockey players of the future.

Fifth Victory Loan

"President Roosevelt recently described as Sixth Columnists those who, quite unwittingly and probably unthinkingly, make remarks likely to give comfort to the enemy. In that class I would put those (and there are thousands of them) who are spreading their opinions that the War will be over in a matter of months," said Fred E. Osborne, chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Alberta. "The spread of such a feeling can only result in a let-up in supporting our country's War effort on the part of thousands on the home front: Italy was never considered a second front, but only as a preliminary."

Mr. Osborne felt obliged to give this warning because of the possible adverse effect of such thought upon the success of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign.

The record which Albertans have hung up in four previous Victory Loan campaigns causes me to believe that they will do it again, through more subscribers and a larger total of subscriptions," concluded Mr. Osborne.

An Empire Council

AS FAMILY TIES ARE FREQUENTLY strengthened in times of distress, so have the bonds which unite the various parts of the British Empire become stronger during the present war. There is no doubt but that the Axis nations were convinced that the Empire would not remain united under the trying circumstances of modern warfare, but contrary to their expectations, even the remotest British possessions have rallied to the fullest support of Great Britain at this time, and there have been magnificent contributions in manpower, supplies and money, from every part of the Empire. Apart from the tangible benefits which have resulted from this demonstration of Empire unity, there has also been cause for great satisfaction for all those who hope to see the British Commonwealth of Nations work as a body in co-operation with the other democratic countries in the post-war world, in furthering wide application of the principles for which we are now fighting.

Would Permit Quick Action

Prime Minister John Curtin, of Australia, whose government was recently returned to power with a decisive majority, has made the timely suggestion, that after the war some sort of Empire machinery should be set up, which will permit quick joint action in matters of urgency. He has emphasized that such an Empire Council would not have executive powers, but would operate on "effective consultant lines." Premier Curtin also made it very clear that this plan would in no way involve the creation of an Empire bloc against the rest of the world, but would be instrumental in permitting a strongly united British Empire to work in close co-operation with the other democratic nations in the postwar years. The British Empire has for many years stood as a living example of what can be achieved through the practical use of democratic principles, and it will no doubt play a very important part in ensuring the application of these principles to the re-building of the liberated nations in the future.

Interest Has Been Aroused

This proposal has aroused interest in all parts of the Empire and has put into concrete form the hopes of many other British Empire statesmen who have looked forward to some specific plan for consolidating the Commonwealth. It is recognized that many complex situations will arise after the war, and a council such as Mr. Curtin has suggested would bring the people of the Empire into closer co-operation in the formation of important post-war policies. Canada, in common with Australia, New Zealand, and other parts of the Empire, has expanded and extended her sphere of influence greatly during the past four years, and after the war our concern with world politics will be greater than it has previously been. Mr. Churchill has on several occasions intimated his interest in bringing the various parts of the Empire into closer association, and there are few people here, or elsewhere within the Commonwealth, who do not desire to see the strengthening of the ties which have bound it together and given it the unique place which it now holds in the history of the world.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA TOMATOES DAILY!

As this is the time of the year when tomatoes are inexpensive and plentiful you should be using them daily to provide your family's supply of vitamin C and replace the scarce orange. To obtain the maximum vitamin C from tomatoes they must be handled with care. Do not leave them exposed to air for any length of time after they have been cut. When cooking tomatoes do not over-cook and serve immediately they are finished cooking.

Because of the great loss of vitamin C during cooking we should use tomatoes raw as much as possible. There are several methods of preparation besides the conventional method of slicing raw tomatoes. As an appetizer you may serve fresh tomato cocktail made by serving fully ripe fruit and adding the desired flavoring.

If the tomatoes are to be used in the main course, you will find either stuffed raw tomatoes or stuffed baked tomatoes both different and delicious. Using firm medium sized tomatoes scoop out part of the pulp and replace with a combination of shredded cabbage, carrot, and raw beet mixed with salad dressing. Or you could fill the tomato with cottage cheese, chopped cooked meat and celery or potato salad.

Stuffed baked tomatoes provides you with a great variety of dishes depending on your choice of stuffings.

STUFFED TOMATOES

1 cup diced bologna
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. bread crumbs
1 cup cooked corn
Pepper
1 tsp. butter

Combine these and add to 6 large tomatoes after you have removed the pulp. Bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees F. for 15-20 minutes.

In addition to this recipe the tomatoes may be filled with bread or potato dressing; macaroni and cheese; chicken, fish or cheese dressings; or a stuffing composed of minced vegetables and left over meats.

If you wish to feature the tomato in a supper dish, break an egg into the hollow of the tomato and bake 20 minutes at 250 degrees F. You will find this not only delicious but nourishing.

Churchill's Opinion

British Prime Minister Tells Foreign Secretary Something About Eden

Before the Quebec conference, Anthony Eden read the descriptions of himself which appeared in the American press. In those dispatches there were references to his graying hair. "At last," said Eden, "they no longer will say about me, 'the youthful diplomat'."

"You're wrong," Winston Churchill corrected him. "Remember MacDonald, Chamberlain and myself, in British politics now, youth begins at 50 and middle age at 70." —New York Post.

Retain Control

Large Measure Of Governmental Control In Britain After The War Ends

A large measure of governmental control over British social and economic life will have to be retained for a time after the war ends if a national catastrophe is to be avoided, according to Home Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Morrison warned business men in a speech that Britain will undergo another period of boom and bust, similar to that which followed the last war, if existing wartime controls are lifted too soon.

Roll your owners! Go for Ogdens

In the early days, "Tin Lizzies" did not always roll smoothly but old-timers will tell you that Ogdens has always been a smooth tobacco. Why? Because it's a distinctive blend of choice, ripe tobacco—worthy of its famous name—Ogdens. You try it—and today, Ogdens' quality for pipe smoking, too, in Ogdens' Cut Plug.

SMILE AWHILE

Johnny Brown had missed school. The next day he brought this excuse from his father:

"Dear Teacher: Please excuse John's absence from school yesterday. He fell in the river and got all wet. By doing the same you will oblige."

A policeman, whose evidence was taken on commission, deposed: "The prisoner called me an ass, a precious doll, a scarecrow, a rag-muffin and an idiot." And this being the conclusion of his depositions, his signature was preceded by the formal ending, "All of which I swear is true."

Freshman—Did you hear about old absent-minded Professor Freerer?

Senior—Why, no. Freshman—He looked in the directory to find out where he lived and found he couldn't remember his name.

Mistress—Marie, you were entertaining a man in the kitchen last night, weren't you?

Marie—That's for him to say, ma'am. But I tried my best.

"These gloves are about six sizes too small for me."

"Well, you asked for kid gloves, didn't you?"

"And did you ever lose yourself in your work?"

"Yes."

"What is your work?"

"Exploring Central Africa."

"I'd like a couple of hard-boiled eggs to take out," said the young fellow to the girl at the lunch counter.

"All right," replied the waitress with a smile, "but you'll have to wait. Me and Mamie don't get off until ten."

Customer—I'd look at a man's comb.

Salesgirl—Certainly. You wish a narrow man's comb?

Customer—No, I want a comb for a fat man with rubber teeth.

"And what did you learn in Scripture lesson, dear?" asked mother.

"Oh, all about the Ten Commandments," replied Tommy.

The teacher was explaining to her class what was meant by "bigamy."

"It means," she said, "having two wives at one time. Now, can any boy tell me what word means having only one wife?"

"I can, teacher," said one boy; "monotony."

Chaplain—How could you have the heart to swindle people who trusted you?

Prisoner—But, parson, people who don't trust you can't be swindled.

The doctor was discovered with coal and brushes.

"Why doctor, I never knew you painted!" exclaimed his friend.

"Oh, I just do it to kill time," replied the doctor.

"What! Haven't you got any patients?"

Our Boys And Girls On Active Service

(By Ottawa Observer)

That was a breath-taking story which the Navy released late last month about the Nazis trying to seal up Halifax harbor by sowing mines like beetles in a garden. The men on the minesweepers who cleared the channel of the dangerous mines had a tough job but did it thoroughly. Among them were quite a number of Westerners, who seem to take to the navy like a duck to water. One of the mechanics who baby's the Diesels on a minesweeper was Petty Officer Bill Sheard of Selkirk, Man., and Lieut. Raineau Gravel of Gravelbourg, Sask. The latter said he found it "awful monotonous and would rather be on convoy work." Imagine, and him flirting with those deadly things all round his ship.

Saskatchewan will be looking forward to the new CWAC military band of 29 girls coming out during October, among them being some natives of the prairies. The leader of the band is Sgt. Nadia Svarich, who for eight years taught school around Vegreville and Camrose, Alta. Tooting are also a pair of sisters, Ptes. Isabel and Eva Johnson of Loon Lake, Sask.

There were 25 bright, smart lads among a convoy which landed at a British port recently, all from the first class to graduate from Royal Roads Naval College on Vancouver Island. Soon they will be stationed on battleships and cruisers. G. L. Hopkins of Swift Current, Sask., and A. B. Torris of Westbrook, Alta., were in the party. Hopkins has four brothers in the forces and his father is Lieut.-Col. Hopkins, now back in Canada, who was a D.F.C. of the last war.

Some of our prairie sons are with the R.C.A.F. in the Aleutians, but, maybe you know little about this chain of islands, the last of which is nearer the Japan mainland than the Canadian mainland. The big Jap naval base of Paramushiri is 700 miles from Attu, Alaska, believe it or not, is only 500 miles west of Hawaii. The lads have the toughest flying in the world there. But they have some compensations. The PX stores run by the U.S. army storekeepers to them. They get 10 packs of cigarettes for 50 cents, 20 packs of best razor blades for $1.60 and a cigarette lighter that cost you $10 here, they can buy for $2.50. But no beer, liquor or wine.

Here's a fighting family, the Leightons of Calgary. When daughter Mona, joined up she made the sixth in the family on active service. Her dad is Staff Sgt. Syd. Leighton.

Newspapermen at Winnipeg found out that Mrs. Guy Simonds, wife of the famous commander of the Canadian First Division in Italy, has real military background. Her grandfather was first officer commanding Fort Osborne Barracks in Winnipeg, one of the oldest of military establishments in the West.

A Saskatchewan farmer's daughter came all the way from the north to join up at Regina, but was turned down because she gave her age as sixteen. Was she disappointed.

While haircuts of the men in the forces stay strictly the same, there was the problem of the CWAC's hairdo, many of whom thought they would like the Veronica Lake style, lousing out from underneath their smart caps. But that was out and instead they got a smart "feather bob" which is pretty well standard.

EMIGRATE TO BRITAIN

Large scale emigration to Britain since war started has partly solved Elre's unemployment problem. During 1942 nearly 52,000 travel permits were issued, compared to 35,000 in 1941 and 26,000 in 1940.

The average distance of the sun from the earth is 92,900,000 miles.

Annual National Competition To Be Held At Toronto, Nov. 21st

Boys' and Girls' farm club teams, winners of honours in their respective provinces, under the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, will assemble from all parts of Canada at Toronto on November 21, 1943, to commence a week's program of the annual national competitions. Because of the farm labour situation and the prospects of a late harvest in some areas, the date set is three weeks later than in 1942. As usual, the contests include judging of live stock and seeds and oral examinations in the six major projects of dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain, and potatoes.

The oral examinations for all six projects will be conducted at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on November 22, but a change has been made with regard to the judging contests. Instead of taking the teams to various farms in the vicinity of Toronto and elsewhere for the judging classes, all the judging work will be done at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

The main reason for the change are to avoid use of motor transportation in moving the club teams from point to point, and in view of the lateness of the season, to provide comfortable surroundings for the contests. The teams will travel to Guelph by train. Following the completion of the actual contests on November 23, the remainder of the week will be spent on educational tours, with a visit to Ottawa on November 26.

PRAIRIE DOGS

To Fit The Crime

Victims Of German Brutality Beat Fitted To Punish Offenders

A general of the German elite guard was captured by Polish guerrillas, a Berne dispatch reports, tried by a "popular court" and then shot. The general was charged with responsibility for the execution of 100,000 Polish patriots.

Evidently it will be much more conducive to justice to permit the victims of German mass brutality to deal with its authors after the war than to for sentimental Americans or British to do so. And infinitely more conducive to justice than to turn the criminals over to a "reformed" Germany, as was done after the last war when of nearly 1,000 criminals only six were given even trifling sentences.—Kansas City Star.

MOTORING IN BRITAIN

Within 20 years after the war, the number of automobiles on the roads will be 20 times greater than in 1939 and a constructive program must be inaugurated now else there will be "increasing slaughter and mutilation on the road," said Noel Baker, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of War Transport.

It is estimated that a beach tree consumes about 80 quarts of water daily.

BACKACHE? Look out for Trouble With Your KIDNEYS

If your back aches or if you have disturbed sleep, burning or smarting, look out for trouble. This condition is a sure sign that your kidneys are not fully ridding your blood of poisonous acids and wastes. When the kidneys slow up, wastes collect. Backache, dizzy spells, puffy eyes and rheumatic pains may follow. Your kidneys need help—and there is a time-tried, proven way to help them known as GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules. These Capsules contain carefully measured quantities of that widely known diuretic called Dutch Drops. You will find their action fast and effective. When we're all doing our best to help win the war none of us can afford to be slowed up physically and mentally by common constipation... the kind caused by lack of "bulk" in the diet. If you're troubled that way, why not get right at the cause instead of "dosing" with purgatives that give, at best, only temporary relief. Here's a simple, "better way" to prevent constipation caused by lack of "bulk"—eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day... grand-tasting as a cereal or in crispy muffins... drink plenty of water. Then see if you don't notice a big difference in the way you feel and look! Get started, right away. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Canada Must Play A Part In Air Age Ahead

WINNIPEG. — "In the air age ahead Canada's outlook should embrace as many routes and services as may be required to maintain her position as the fourth largest trading nation in the world, and must see to it that Canadian air lines play their part in supplementing surface routes by providing essential global air services," C. H. Dickens, vice-president and general manager, Canadian Pacific Airlines, Montreal, told the Winnipeg Board of Trade here.

The pioneer Canadian flyer, now operating head of one of the world's most extensive airlines, was both optimistic and cautious in his word picture of post-war air developments.

With two-thirds of our total population in the east-west zone along the southern border, the existing air lines serve directly only one-third of our people. Another third can readily be reached by a planned system of feeder or local air lines extending to smaller manufacturing and agricultural industries. The system, based on key points of the present main lines services, would give Canadian business complete air transport service.

"No place in Canada would then be more than an overnight flight to any other place, and our bonds of unity as a nation would be strengthened."

In his opinion, the airplane or glider would not, in his lifetime, supersede other trains or ships. Last year, he pointed out, Canadian railways carried 150,000,000 tons of freight while Canada's commercial airlines carried 5,000 tons. This figure, multiplied a hundred-fold is still a small part of the total tonnage and would not include any bulk commodities, such as grain, lumber or coal.

SWEETWATER, B.C. — A new variety of potato produced by W. S. Simpson, farmer near this town in northeastern British Columbia, will be named Athlone. Canada's governor-general has given permission for use of his name.

The potato is an early white variety, oval in shape. It is a free, mealy cooker, Mr. Simpson developed the new variety in an effort to produce an early plant needed for the short summers in the area.

The governor-general requested that samples of the potato be sent to him.

Germany Registering 59-Year-Old Men For Military Service

LONDON. — The Germans now are registering 59-year-old men for military service—a stage they never reached in the First Great War—a spokesman for the ministry of economic warfare said.

Men of this class will not be called up at present, he added, but their registration gives plain evidence that Hitler now is scraping the bottom of his manpower reserve.

Says Diplomats At Vatican Are Destroying Confidential Papers

LONDON. — Diplomats accredited to the Vatican are burning confidential papers in fear that the Germans will violate papal territory when abandoning Rome, the Daily Mail said in a despatch from Madrid.

The story added that even Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, was destroying documents which would disclose the identity of persons in Germany who have kept the Pope informed of Nazi steps against the church.

JAPANESE WEAKNESS

Being Defeated In The Whole Solomon-New Guinea Area

WASHINGTON. — President Roosevelt said he detected signs of Japanese weakness in the whole Solomon Islands-New Guinea area.

Mr. Roosevelt, who also is commander-in-chief of United States forces, briefly reviewed the war situation at a press-radio conference. He said the way the Japanese were being defeated and were retreating in the Solomons-New Guinea area, plus the destruction of great numbers of their transport barges, was proof, in his opinion, of the enemy's weakness in the entire region.

Continuing, Mr. Roosevelt expressed belief that more attention should be given to this factor. The barges of wood and steel, he said, are the only Japanese means of island-to-island transport and great numbers have been destroyed in the past 30 days by Allied air forces.

Some escort vessels also have been sunk, he added.

TO PROVIDE WORK

Men From Prairies May Be Taken To Lakehead Elevators

FORT WILLIAM. — Winter work for 125 farmers from the prairie provinces may be provided at Lakehead elevators where there is an acute shortage of labor.

Grain officials said the men would be recruited by elevator agents on the prairies, and if a plan under discussion is adopted the men would remain here until next spring. They would be engaged in laboring jobs at the elevators.

Under the plan, the men would be provided with free transportation by the federal government.

MAKES ESCAPE

LONDON.—Maj.-Gen. H. B. Klopper, South African commander at Tobruk who was captured in the fall of that city in June, 1942, has escaped and reached Allied lines after a 150-mile trek through enemy territory, Reuters news agency said in a Cairo dispatch. The dispatch said Gen. Klopper escaped from Silema, 75 miles east of Rome.

Huge Demands For Food For The United Kingdom

TORONTO. — Huge demands for food for the United Kingdom, Europe and elsewhere mean that Canadians must use food carefully, and "we are not all co-operating" in bringing all possible information on proper use of food to the public," Dr. L. B. Pett, director of the pensions department's nutrition services, said here.

In an address prepared for delivery before the 24th annual meeting of the Health League of Canada here, Dr. Pett said the food rules prepared by nutrition services leave no margin for error, such as would be desirable, but in view of overseas food demands "we cannot provide a margin for error—we must insist on a careful use of food."

The right use of food had been widely publicized "just in time," because current demands for it were "making people in Ottawa very worried."

The food rules recently had been denounced as "thoroughly pernicious" because they advocated "slightly more food per person than some officials would like to make available to civilians," in view of needs elsewhere.

The nutrition division of the pensions department was established about two years ago, and though progress has been made in the nutritional field "we have still not achieved much real unification in this effort," said Dr. Pett.

Baha'is followers emphasize a world faith absorbing all religions and the temple's nine sides symbolize the world's nine chief religions.

Says Japanese Will Be Made To Pay For Beheading Allied Aviator

WASHINGTON. — The United States will call to account after the war the Japanese responsible for beheading an Allied aviator—an act which President Roosevelt said shows Japan's lack of civilization.

Asked for comment on the release by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters of a captured Japanese diary which described the killing, state department officials cited the note sent to Tokyo last April 12.

This note, transmitted through the Swiss government, protested the execution of some of the American fliers who fell into Japanese hands after the bombing of Tokyo. It warned the Japanese government that for this and any other "acts of criminal barbarity" against American prisoners the United States government "will visit upon the officers of the Japanese government responsible for such uncivilized and inhuman acts the punishment they deserve."

AVOIDING NAZIS

Thousands Of Frenchmen Are Living In Alps Or Pyrenees

ALGIER. — Interior Minister Andre Philip of the French Committee of National Liberation said that on the basis of reports from the underground there are more than 200,000 Frenchmen living in "illegality" in the Alps or Pyrenees after fleeing to avoid deportation to forced labor in Germany. Forty thousand Frenchmen have been executed by the Germans up to March, 1943, he said.

PRaise FOR CANADA

LONDON.—Inspired by Canada's war effort, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard devoted its entire editorial column to telling its readers of the Dominion and her great contribution which is "a source of pride and emulation of all the Allied powers."

Balkans May Be Meeting Ground For The Allies

LONDON.—The Balkans, a possible future meeting ground for victorious Soviet, British and American armies, began to shape up as an important subject for discussion at the forthcoming three-power conference in Moscow.

A Stockholm report that the American 7th army of Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton is in Italy preparing for a Balkan invasion, was carried by Reuters news agency.

In addition, disclosure of the make-up of the American and British missions to Moscow underscores both the Balkan and the military aspects.

In the delegations will be outstanding experts of the United States department of state and the British foreign office on central European affairs. On the American side will be H. Freeman Matthews, head of the European division of the state department, and on the British will be William Strang, who supervises the southern and central European and the French departments of the foreign office.

Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay, military deputy secretary to the war cabinet, who has accompanied Prime Minister Churchill to his conferences in the United States and Canada this year, will be a member of the British Moscow mission.

Speculation was heard in London that Gen. George C. Marshall, United States chief of staff, might travel to Moscow with Secretary of State Cordell Hull as American kingpin in the military talks.

It has been known here for several days that military developments, moving ahead of schedule both in Russia and in Italy, had made necessary joint Anglo-American-Soviet military talks.

Also sitting as an American delegate will be W. Averell Harriman, newly named ambassador to Moscow. There was a possibility he might not present his credentials to the Kremlin until after the three-power meeting so that he could attend as a delegate rather than as ambassador.

It is expected here that Hall will be the chief American delegate, despite absence of a formal announcement from Washington, and it is known that the United States mission will include at least 10 others in addition to Harriman.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will head the British mission.

Making Plans For The Empire Air Conference

LONDON.—Arrangements for the forthcoming empire air conference are in the hands of Lord Beaverbrook, newly appointed lord privy seal, and final plans are expected to be completed soon for the meetings which are to be held in London.

Representatives of Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India are scheduled to attend the consultations, out of which it is hoped will emerge an empire post-war commercial air policy to be used as a basis for discussions with the United Nations, Russia and other United States.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa, reached London for consultations with the dominions office. While here he will sit with the war cabinet.

The Evening Standard said it should not be assumed that Prime Minister Smuts is the first arrival for the conference of dominion representatives, mentioned in his speech by Prime Minister Churchill. That meeting is unlikely to be held until early next year, The Standard said.

It was understood there is a good chance the South African government leader will visit the United States—and possibly also go to Canada—but his associates said nothing definite has been decided.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Aiding Canada's War Effort

Some months ago the Press carried revenue surpluses enjoyed by various provinces during the past year. Alberta was among those provinces. It came as a surprise then when an Ottawa despatch revealed that Alberta had asked for an extension of a $400,000 loan from the Federal government and it had been refused. Alberta on March 31 had announced a surplus of $6,373,068 and in September of the same year asks for an extension of the insignificant sum of $400,000. It doesn't make sense. Ottawa is sorely tried these days to raise sufficient sums to wage this war and the provinces can help her raise money by paying back their debts, especially so when they can boast of such large surpluses.

The Best in Outfits

(Christian Science Monitor)

One of the 8 a.m. regulars got on at the junction, and easing himself down beside a friend absorbed in a newspaper, remarked: "Must be mighty interesting news this morning?"

"I haven't read the news," replied his seat mate. "I was looking over this advertisement of the Green St. Tailors. Have you bought a new fall suit?"

"Sure have, and it's the best ever."

"What's it like?"

"Well, it is mostly steel gray, very durable, and guaranteed to give lasting satisfaction."

"Sounds like a suit of armor."

"It is, in a way. You see, I decided my overcoat could go another year, or possibly two, and I really don't need another suit. So I put the money into outfitting the boys."

"I didn't know you had other sons."

"I haven't—of my own. But since our Bill was reported missing over Germany, I have realized more than ever that every one of the boys fighting for us on the beaches of Salerno, at Naples, New Guinea, and elsewhere in lonely stretches of the Pacific, is our boy, needing our protection. When Bill was a little shaver and money a bit scarce, his mother and I went without many a new outfit to make sure he was warmly protected against our bleak northern winters. Now our lads over there are facing things a thousand times more severe than Old Man Winter, and I know I'll feel warmer myself if I am doing all I can to provide them with the tanks and guns and planes they need for their protection and successful battling. So my money is going into Victory Bonds for those outfits."

"H'm. I'd like to buy one of those outfits myself. Mind if I see your tailor?"

Speedsters

Individual complaints are again being heard regarding the speed which some youths are driving the grocery trucks throughout town. These youths are especially dangerous when going around corners and it is a wonder that some pedestrian has not been seriously injured. Some young men when they get behind the wheel of a high powered truck seem to lose all sense of reason or caution. They are to be seen speeding hell bent for election on the various streets and then pull up with screeching brakes at stop signs. It is high time some of them were given a warning to use a little common sense when driving throughout the town. Another dangerous point which some day will be the scene of a serious accident is right in front of the Andrew McLeod residence on Fourth St. Drivers speed up the hill leading to Fourth street east while others step on the gas at the W. Haysom residence to speed up the hill alongside the McLeod residence to Fifth street. There is a blind portion on both these "speedways" and if a Slow sign is not erected there soon someone is going to suffer serious injury, if not death.

Boy Scout Notes

A recent census of Boy Scouts in Great Britain showed a membership increase of 21 per cent. Scout Bernard Carr of Gateshead, England as a service to blind people in his city, constructs maps of the war fronts in Braille so that sightless people might follow the war news.

BLIND BOYS ARE SCOUTS

Believed to be the only troop of blind Boy Scouts in the world, 45 sightless boys on the Island of Cyprus do regular scouting under a lady scoutmaster. Several of the boys have gained their Swimmer's Badge, can strike a tent without help and can pitch a tent with very little help.

THE "OUT" IN SCOUTING

Boy Scouts of the 2nd Hamilton Troop believe in living in the out-doors. In the past 52 weeks they have spent 47 week-ends at their camps, including week-ends when the temperature dropped as low as 25 degrees below zero. Due to high water leaving their boathouse stranded, these Sea Scouts had to swim out to get a boat when they planned a boating programme.

SCOUTING HELPS A SOLDIER

A former Canadian Scout Troop Leader, now on active service in Africa wrote to his former Scout master in Canada. "Thanks to Scouting the transformation over from civil life to army life was made without the usual discomfort most chaps experience. I have been in the army three years, now and I still find my Scouting experience help me on many occasions."

SOLDIERS TO THE RESCUE

When Boy Scouts of Melfort, Sask., had difficulty in building a swimming hole at their campsite, soldiers from nearby Army Basic Training Centre came to the rescue and built the dam for them. Lt. Col. F. Thompson, commandant of the centre considered it good training for the soldiers, and the Boy Scouts heartily agreed.

Imagine that mother's surprise and amusement, when, one day Tommy said:

"Mother, why is it that my Daddy is so smart and you are so dumb?"
"Why, Tommy she exclaimed, "What do you mean?"
"Well, you can never answer my questions and when Daddy comes home he always does."

BREAD helps to keep Canadians Strong... Vital

BREAD contributes to the most important nutritional needs—in large part helps to give Canada its high health record.

Delicious, nourishing bread supplies one-fourth of the food energy of Canadians.

Its rich carbohydrate content makes it the best and cheapest source of human fuel. And, made with its usual present-day milk formula, bread is also an important source of protein, equal to meat in maintaining muscular energy.

Eat more bread—and meet today's emergencies with greater vitality and energy!

COLONEL MENARD SUBJECT OF POSTER

Under a hail of steel and fire on the beaches of Dieppe, Lieut.-Colonel Dollard Menard, DSO, officer commanding the French Canadian Regiment, Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, fought gallantly, was wounded five times in as many hours, covered the re-embarkation of his men and fainted as he was carried back on a landing barge. Regaining consciousness, he organized the anti-aircraft defence of the barge, lying flat on his back. In the recent invasion of Kiska by Canadian and American troops, Col. Menard commanded the Hull Regiment of Quebec. This drawing by Hubert Rogers, depicting the scene at Dieppe appears on the latest poster in the National Film Board's "Men of Valor" series.

The French Canadian officer was awarded his DSO after the attack on the French coast town last year. The restrained language of his citation states: "While in command of his battalion this officer displayed the highest qualities of courage and leadership. Landing with the first attacking parties, he was wounded almost from the beginning, but he continued to direct operations of his unit by wireless under constant machine gun, mortar and artillery fire. Later, in order to gain a better vantage point, he crept forward to higher ground, but was again wounded. When finally taken on board a tank landing craft, although wounded for the fifth time, he still insisted on organizing aircraft defence and looking after his men. He set an example in the best tradition of the service, and was an inspiration to all ranks in his battalion."

Col. Menard, a permanent force officer has been in the regular army since his graduation from Royal Military College at Kingston in 1936. He was already a veteran when this war broke out. Attached to the British Army in India in March, 1938, he took part in the Waristrian campaign of that year. He then went to Hong Kong and served six weeks on a submarine with the China Fleet and the Royal Engineers in the Far East, returning to Canada in 1940.

He went to England in August of 1940, rising to the rank of company commander of the Royal 22nd in December, 1941. He then occupied the post of brigade major, until his promotion to the rank of lieutenant-colonel in March, 1942, becoming at the age of 29 Canada's youngest officer of that rank. Of the men he led at Dieppe, Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, Col. Menard says: "They were simply magnificent. I couldn't wish for better men."

Subtle Warning:

The other day when the boys were lined up for inspection, the lieutenant walked up and down the ranks and stopped in front of one yardbird and said: "Do you know, Jones, you remind me of General Grant."

Jones was so surprised that all he could say was, "Do a, sir?" "Yes," said the lieutenant, "he didn't shave either."

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs:

I wanted to thank you by letter instead of by card for the many cigarettes you have sent me through the Overseas Welfare fund. To me these are more than just a smoke. They show that back home friendship and thoughts are still of not only one but all the chaps over here. I really appreciate both the smokes and the friendships a lot.

Well fellows, how goes the battle back there? Things are quite a bit the same here except that we have lost a lot of our men to various field units, etc. and some are over in Sicily or Italy. We also have new fellows coming in from time to time. Excuse me while I light up a "Sweet Cap"—ah! that's better.

We have just heard the news that the Germans are evacuating Sardinia after being attacked by two Italian divisions. We were sure pleased when Mussolini was thrown out and even more so when Italy gave in but I guess there is a lot of fighting ahead.

They got big-hearted on Aug. 16 and gave me another stripe. How are all my friends in Coleman. I am still waiting a letter from Fred Guerard, Johnny Kerr, and Bill Picard.

There is one chap in this unit, I think his name is Panek—Archie Wragg.

Dear Friends: Thanks most sincerely for the cigarettes which I received yesterday. These regular parcels from Coleman help to brighten up the Fall days.—Best wishes—J. T. Dunbar.

Sirs: Received smokes O.K. Thanks. Things are looking much brighter now so it might not be long before we are home. Have given up driving now and am butchering—Geo. Burtinik.

Dear Sirs: I received a parcel of 300 cigarettes from you the other day. I certainly did appreciate them. I understand that this is one of several packages that have been sent to me, and I must say that I am sorry not to have received the others. Things with me are 100%. Absolutely no complaints whatever. My family keep me well posted as to activities at home so I feel that I am one of you yet.—C. R. Emmerson.

Soldiers' Letters

Dear Sirs:

Well folks, here I am again and much happier this time than last. The Journals are coming in perfect lately and I forward them all to Howard Campbell after I read them and I guess he'll pass them on too.

The last three days I have had Sgt. Pilot Howard Campbell with me at my camp and boy we really talked over the old home town and old times. We were even "Bucking Coal" again at times in our chats.

I must say I was indeed happy to meet him and he was just as happy to see me as it was the

On Tuesday and Wednesday it will be "Love Crazy" at the Palace theatre. It stars two old favorites, William Powell and Myrna Loy. A riot of laughs! Bill has to make believe he is a lunatic in order to prevent Myrna from divorcing him.

On Wednesday and Thursday it will be a double program. "Gentlemen After Dark" and "Undercover Man."

Quotas For All Three Pass Units Sharply Reduced From Fourth Victory Loan

Unit	Quota
Coleman	$102,000
Blairmore-Frank	91,000
Bellevue-Hillcrest	76,000

According to figures released by unit organizers in the three Pass units the Fifth Victory Loan quotas have been sharply reduced from the quotas attained in the Fourth Victory loan.

For instance Coleman has been given a quota of $102,000 against the $125,000 given it last April. Blairmore-Frank has been given a quota of $91,000. It was given a $105,000 last April. Bellevue-Hillcrest have been assigned the task of raising $76,000 this time. $88,000 was asked last Spring.

Judging from Calgary's quota the cities have had their quotas boosted.

Lethbridge Herald to Keep Box Score on Progress Southern Alberta Units

Herald Will Tie-Up With Radio Broadcasts on Loan's Progress; Southern Alberta Publicity Chairman Ernie MacFarlane Very Active.

Victory Loan units of southern Alberta are most fortunate to have a human dynamo for the post of publicity chairman. He is Ernie MacFarlane, of Lethbridge, who thinks up the most original ideas and then travels hither and yon over the southern part of the province revealing them to unit publicity men and getting them to put the ideas into practice.

He it was who thought up the "Windows of Fame" idea which promises to be such an outstanding success in promoting Victory Loan sales.

Another of his and Editor Harold Long, of the Lethbridge Herald, ideas is to keep a daily box score in the Herald in which all southern Alberta units will be recorded. Citizens will then be in constant touch with the progress of all units. The Herald will also carry news stories on all units and co-operate with CJOQ in putting these stories on the air.

It will be the duty of Walter Warn, of Bellevue; Bill Chappell, of Blairmore, and A. Balloch, of Coleman, to maintain a steady stream of publicity from the Pass units and so keep the Pass campaign to the forefront.

Co-Operation For 'Windows-of-Fame' Needed

Pictures of Local Men and Women in the Armed Forces Wanted; Take Them to Victory Loan Headquarters, F. Aboussafy's Store or Journal Office.

Last week an appeal was made to relatives, sweethearts or friends of persons in the armed forces to bring pictures of them to either Victory Loan Headquarters, the Frank Aboussafy's store or The Journal office. Few answered the appeal.

As a result a committee is now busy visiting numerous homes and getting the much wanted pictures. Many have been received, but many more are still needed. The committee is small and the job is a large one. You can help ease the work by bringing the pictures to any one of the three receiving depots, along with the subject's rank, name, age, when enlisted, and if overseas, when he went over.

The pictures will not be injured and every care will be taken of them while in the windows of the various merchants.

Please co-operate with your Loan Publicity Committee by bringing the pictures down town for display. Your co-operation will be much appreciated.

Canvassers Job Monday Evening

Frank Aboussafy, unit organizer, has released his canvassers' names and states that they will be on the job early Monday evening after work.

Any information given them by individuals will be received by them in utmost confidence. Bond purchasers should feel free to deal with these official canvassers in purchasing bonds. Some no doubt may want to purchase their bonds through the bank, but it can be truly said that the canvassers are just as capable of filling out a purchaser's application blank as a bank

DON'T BE A WALLFLOWER—LEARN TO DANCE

A girl should relax enough to follow readily, but she should keep her head up and avoid a dreamy pose. Everyone can dance. It's simply a case of being completely relaxed but not sloppily so. You must not be tense while dancing. If you are you will never be a good dancer.

A woman must cultivate a sense of balance and keep herself pliable when dancing. She can build up self-confidence by practicing new steps by herself.

Our 32-page booklet is full of all the basic dance steps with all the smart variations of popular dances like the rumba and the tango. But if you simply want to learn how to waltz, the booklet will help you not only with instructions, but also with clear-cut diagrams.

Skagway Pipe Line

Emergency Line Stretches A 1,000 Miles To Fairbanks

The U.S. army has revealed that an emergency gasoline pipe line stretching 1,000 miles from Skagway, Alaska, through the Yukon territory to Fairbanks has supplied thousands of gallons of gasoline to air bases in the interior of Alaska and Canada since its completion in January.

Although the line constructed by army engineers has been in use for nine months, no official announcement of its presence was made until recently.

"The Skagway - Fairbanks line really saved our bacon last winter," one airbase commander explained.

"We had hundreds of planes going through and it would have been utterly impossible to haul enough gas in by trucks or to fly it in."

The strategic supply line is routed from Skagway through Whitehorse to Fairbanks. Since the water route to Skagway is well protected through the inland passage the new line makes a safer, shorter haul for tankers and removes a great burden from the Alaska railroad, which formerly had to freight thousands of gallons of gasoline to Fairbanks.

The system will be operated for the army by the newly formed Standard Oil Company of Alaska on a dollar-a-year cost-plus basis.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

CHILDREN'S FEARS

"Children should develop many cautions, but few fears," S. R. Laycock, Ph.D., educational psychologist at the University of Saskatchewan, and educational director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene (Canada), says in an article contributed to "Health," the publication of the Health League of Canada. Writing on the subject of "Children's Fears," Dr. Laycock says "Fears are a handicap in modern life."

Fears are not inherited, but home-grown, and result from experiences in home, school or community, according to the author. Some fears result from associations. Fears are built into some children by ghost stories and other frightening yarns. Many parents, Dr. Laycock regrets, deliberately build fears in their children to control them. It is a bad practice, he says; as bad as the practice of mothers using the father as a threat to control children.

Children are apt to "catch" the fears of their parents, too. Investigation has shown there is a definite correspondence between the fears of parents and their children.

Feelings of incompetence and weakness and of emotional insecurity are other causes of fear. If a child's basic needs for affection, belonging, independence, social approval, self-esteem and achievement are not met, he is likely to have fears.

Scolding, punishment or ridicule will not help children get over fears, Doctor Laycock says. He counsels parents to set an example of fearlessness, improving children's self-reliance and their skills and knowledge.

"Don't forget that fears are often a general symptom of a child's lack of emotional security at home," the author cautions. "Be sure his basic needs are being satisfied."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 17

JESUS AND THE SABBATH

Golden text: And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath. Mark 2:27.

Lesson: Exodus 20:8-11; Isaiah 58:13, 14; Mark 2:23-3:6. Devotional Reading: Psalm 1.

Explanations and Comments Keep the Sabbath Differently From Other Days, Exodus 20:8-11. The root meaning of the word rendered "hallowed" in verse 11 is to "separate": the Sabbath is to be kept holy, separated from other days in the way it is spent.

Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: note that this Fourth Commandment lays stress upon working as well as upon resting. There are many persons whose difficulty in keeping this commandment lies in the fact that they idle away the six days. The Sabbath is to be distinguished from other days by abstinence from labor.

The seventh day is a Sabbath unto Jehovah thy God. A fine statement of the purpose of the Sabbath is given by Bishop McConnell in these words: "The Sabbath is the institution which gave God his chance to utter to men some of the finer revelations likely to be missed in the up-roar of week-day life."

In it thou shalt not do any work [any unnecessary work] thou...nor thy cattle. During the French Revolution an attempt was made to substitute one day in ten, instead of one day in seven, as a day of rest and recreation, but the attempt was a failure. The needs of body, mind and spirit require one day of rest in seven.

Blessings That Follow the Honoring of the Sabbath, Isaiah 58:13, 14. If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day [that is, if you turn away from what would profane the day]; and...thou shalt have blessing. The prophet Isaiah is sure that Sabbath-keeping will lead to prosperity, and he bases his plea for its observance upon its Godward aspect, as an act of homage to Jehovah. That argument still stands. Long experience has verified the truth which Isaiah emphasizes, that there are few things which we can do that are really more rewarding than this one of turning the one day in seven to the high purposes for which it was intended. To render unto God his due will be to serve our own best and holdest interests.

A woman designed the new tuberculosis X-ray camera that is now being used by the Minister of Health in London to simplify medical examinations for signs of the disease. It took her three and a half years to complete the experiment. Patients now are photographed, the tiny films are projected on a screen. Health And Education Program Forecast For Ontario

A physical fitness program linking health and education was forecast for Ontario by Premier Drew.

Addressing a reception for Dr. R. P. Vivian, provincial health minister, Col. Drew said provincial health authorities would be "backed to the limit" in any scheme to check disease among young people in Ontario. Premier Drew mentioned the appointment of C. A. Reynolds to survey youth training in connection with the Cadet Corps, Sea Cadets and physical training in and out of schools.

"From his report," he said, "we hope to extend this type of training and put it on a permanent basis."

Canada Was Invaded

Effects Of Glacial Invasion Still Evident In Many Points Of Canada

Among the great geological events in Canada's history were the Pleistocene glacial invasions. These occurred within comparatively recent times and the effects are still evident in the existence throughout the Dominion of countless lakes, rapids and water-falls. The rich soils of our agricultural regions in southern Ontario and the prairie provinces are also the direct result of glacial action.

The cause of this great ice invasion is still controversial but the fact is indisputable. The glaciers spread and retreated at least four times during the Pleistocene period of the last million years. There were mild spells between some of these invasions, when the climate was warmer than at the present time. Warm water shells and fragments of mild climate trees found as fossils testify to these moderate interglacial climaxes. Such mementoes may be found in the Royal Ontario Museum.

Glaciers form in high land, and around the poles. It is believed that before the great ice invasion Canada stood much higher above sea level than now, perhaps 2,000 feet. The ice weighed down the earth's crust and then melted away. The sea came up into the Lake Ontario basin and extended far into the Ottawa river depression. Later when the land gradually rose the sea retreated to its present position.

Beau Jonathan

by J.B. Ryan

CHAPTER VI.

OUT of the darkness, as Jonathan approached the rear door of the Castle Theatre, came a subdued moan. He turned toward the sound, his fingers stealing about the handle of his sword. The sobbing groan came again, and Jonathan's eyes were riveted on a huddled shape, like the gutter of the street.

Cautiously he stepped closer, then dropped to his knees beside the sprawled body. "Denys!" he cried. "Denys, what happened?"

There was no answer and he lifted the drooping head, straightening the cramped figure. The Frenchman's eyes were closed and mingled with the touch of cloth was a warm, sticky feel that Jonathan recognized instantly as blood.

After the shock of horror, Jonathan's first thought was that Monsieur Denys had been attacked by footpads, followed perhaps by some of the hard-eyed men at the Golden Hind who had seen him leave with the money won at the gambling table. But the first object Jonathan encountered, tearing open the Frenchman's coat and doubting to learn the nature of his friend's wounds, was the purse itself, still plump and unopened.

Weakly, Denys resisted Jonathan's effort to slip an arm under his thin shoulders. "I am beyond the help of surgeons," he murmured. "For a moment the voice was faint. "My wounds are mortal, mon ami. They stabbed me in a dozen places. His wavering hand found the Puritan's sleeve and steadied. "You will have to find Milie. Anne unaided now, Jonathan. She was not in the theatre."

"Denys," Jonathan said, his lips close to the Frenchman's ear. "Who stabbed you?"

There came a rasping sound as the dying man fought for enough breath to speak once more. "The servants of the Golden Hind, Jonathan. The same men, Jonathan, whom we fought the other night."

"His lordship!" Jonathan had a fleeting vision of that tall, sneering nobleman stalking like a specter back into his life. "Denys, tell me—who is this man? Give me his name and I promise you that your death shall not go unavenged!"

Denys shook his head and tried to smile. "I—I do not know, Jonathan. Anne—Anne would not reveal his identity. She knew I intended to challenge the murder. I suppose she feared that—that I would be I who died in the duel."

Something crashed on Jonathan's head as the darkness of the descending club had been aimed faultily. The blow raked through the crown of his wide hat, glancing off to the side. He heaved himself to his feet. Came a ripping of cloth as he tore himself free from the men who surrounded him. He seized a second blow of the club, felt the seizure of fingers once more and jerked about to smash his fist into the face of the man clinging to his cloak. The fellow dropped to the cobblestones and Jonathan, breaking through the milling men, was darting away into the darkness.

"Stop thief!" A pistol cracked, sending a ball of lead close to the ear of the fugitive. Jonathan bent lower, reached the corner and increased his pace, whirling into a street after another until he finally shook off the pursuit.

He had some idea, now, of what had happened in the street before the Castle Theatre for the man whom he had hit on the jaw had been the doorman of the playhouse. The doorman had seen the assassins jump on Monsieur Denys and had run to summon the watch. The doorman knew Jonathan and he had glimpsed the Puritan's face during their short struggle.

The inexorable case against Jonathan Hale took shape. His hat had been left behind at the scene of the killing. The word would be out for a hazel-eyed youth with close-cropped chestnut hair in the garb of a Puritan, clothes already stained with the blood of Denys. The patrons of the Golden Hind would remember the youth who had left the tavern with the Frenchman. The gamblers, like the doorman, would tell their stories—all of which would prove that he had knifed Denys in a dark street to obtain the gold he had helped the Frenchman win.

Jonathan was in a section of the city hitherto unvisited, a maze of crooked streets and unprosperous houses. His feet slowed as he approached a grimy-windowed inn. He must get under cover before daylight. But even this dilapidated hostelry would be searched, along with every tavern in London.

A figure sidled out of the shadows toward the hesitant youth. "A penny for a poor man, sir?" Jonathan was startled. The words and voice—the grimy, lined face—where had he seen and heard them before? It came to him in a flash. This was the same beggar who had accosted him on his arrival in London. But—his previous meeting with the fellow had been in front of the Golden Hind—miles away. Had the dirty-faced man trailed him in his flight across the city?

Jonathan caught one of the skinny arms and dragged the beggar back into the shadows beside the inn. "What do you mean by following me?" he demanded, holding the man helpless against the wall of the building.

"I—I live around here—"

The beggar quivered and gasped. "I'm only a harmless old man—"

"His thirty eyes stared as he studied Jonathan's face. "Say, you're the young fellow who give me a shilling in front of the Golden Hind!"

Jonathan released his hold. "You live nearby?"

The grimy man nodded. "Why were you afraid of me, sir? I'm only a poor chimney sweep now forced to beg."

FOR a moment Jonathan examined the crafty, avaricious face, cunning and shrewd despite its sooty covering. Then he produced his purse, making sure that the wrinkled, meaty eyes observed its well-filled appearance, and extracted a gold crown.

"No woman would allow you to wear such foul garments, Master Sweep," said Jonathan. "So it is obvious that you live alone. Will you let me spend the night with you in return for this bit of gold?"

Understanding leaped into the small eyes and the claw-like hand closed over the crown. "I can accompany you, sir. No one will think to look for you in the home of Matt Tucker."

The home of Tucker, the chimney sweep, was a smelly, one-roomed nook, untidy as absolute poverty and an utter disregard of cleanliness could make it. The sweep, without apology, indicated a pile of blankets in the corner, and invited his guest to occupy the room's one makeshift bed.

It was Jonathan's desire to remain in London. Not only must he locate Mistress Anne, but there was also the score to settle with the nameless robberman. He promised Denys to visit retribution on the killer. How was he to find those two people while guarding against the chance of being found himself by the King's men? If he could disguise himself and move in theatrical circles there was a possibility that he would discover Anne, but his lordship—

Jonathan Hale almost caught his breath at the inspired thought that came to him like a bolt from the blue.

"Tucker," he called, and the dozing sweep roused himself from the blankets into which he had crawled. "In the morning, Tucker, you will learn that I am wanted for robbery and murder. I am not guilty, but that is beside the point since you will not believe me anyway. I offered for my capture. Or you can kiss me when my back is turned to confuse yourself of my gold."

The chimney sweep shook his head. "I would neither rob you nor cause your arrest, good sir."

Jonathan smiled his disbelief. "If you do either of those things, Master Tucker, your gain will be short-lived. The money will be soon spent, leaving you a rheumatic sweep, poor and starving because you can no longer climb chimneys. Will you accept a bargain that will take the ache out of your joints, the dirt out of your skin and leave you a rich man on the day we part company?"

Tucker puffed. "I have done some small pilferings in my day," he admitted. "But only to still the gnawing of an empty stomach. I spent six months in Newgate years ago and the memory of it still remains. I will neither commit crimes myself nor help you in any criminal activities."

"You need have nothing to fear," assured Jonathan. "From this stay, I shall take you to the best house or tavern in London. You are to be my servant. Nothing I do need cause you apprehension, and whenever you think to trifle with the law you are free to go."

Still doubtful, Tucker inquired, "What do you want me to do?" Jonathan tossed him a handful of sovereigns. "First, get that soot and dirt out of you and buy yourself some clean clothes. Then obtain for me a complete outfit of wearing apparel, silks and velvets, the trappings of a gentleman."

Tucker's close-set eyes studied him curiously. "You trust me with this gold?"

"We are both poor men, Master Sweep," said Jonathan. "Each needs the other to make these sovereigns multiply themselves. Be loyal to me and you shall not regret it."

Army Girls Champion A New Hair-Do

Two views of the "feather-bob" coiffure, new style favored by the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

"Miss Canada in Khaki" has found a new hair-do.

In civilian life many of these young women wear their hair in long "glamour" bobs, but when they donned the trim uniform of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, they found that the Veronica Lake style of doing one's hair would have to be forgotten.

Many rolled their locks into a halo effect, but in most cases, even this was hard to keep up. Others had their hair cropped in a short, boyish cut, but it was only in a few cases that this style could be worn. Curls on the top of the head were hard to keep neat because of the constant friction of caps.

A style had to be evolved which would suit most girls and still be practical. This style had to be attractive for blondes, brunettes, redheads, girls with thin faces, chubby faces and those who wanted something just a little on the glamour side.

At last something was hit upon, and now beauty appointment books throughout Canada are beginning to fill with one kind of appointments for Army girls, namely "feather bob cuts and feather-bob perms."

This style is becoming and practical, and takes very little care to keep looking right. In the office it is right in its place and at night it gives "Miss Canada in Khaki," that added bit of glamour when she goes out stepping.

There are still girls who stick to the hair-do which they carried into the Army from civilian days, but the majority have taken a liking to the feather bob and it's definitely becoming associated with the C.W.A.C.

Bombing Statistics

R.A.F. Dropped More Than 4,000 Tons In Less Than Two Hours

In its first three big raids on London, the German air force spent 30 hours dropping not more than 1,000 tons of bombs. In its first three raids in the Battle of Berlin, the R.A.F. dropped more than 4,000 tons in less than two hours. The German air force used twin-engine bombers with an average bomb-carrying capacity of little more than one ton, although they had to fly only short distances. With its four-engine bombers, the R.A.F. makes a 1,200-mile round-trip to Berlin with an average bomb-load per aircraft of between two and three tons.

The German air force's heaviest raid on London, on May 10, 1941, brought just under 450 tons of bombs. In its heaviest raid on Berlin to date, on August 23-24, the R.A.F. dropped 1,700 tons. On August 31-September 1, the R.A.F. dropped well over 1,000 tons of bombs on Berlin. On September 3-4 it dropped 1,000 tons in 20 minutes. This last raid reached a peak of concentration only once before—in the 2,300-ton raid on Hamburg in 45 minutes on July 27-28.—British Information Services.

Chicago Stock Show

Second Fat Stock Show To Be Held In Windy City

In place of the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, which was cancelled in 1942 as a war measure, a second fat stock show will be held at the Chicago Stockyards from November 29 to December 2, 1943. As was the case in 1942, the show will consist of carload lot displays of fat and feeder cattle, sheep, and swine, as well as individual steers, lambs, and hogs in both open and junior classes. The same premiums that have been paid in recent years at the International Live Stock Exposition will be offered, lists of the premiums being obtainable free to prospective exhibitors on application to the Manager of the International. Four large sales of purebred cattle will be held in conjunction with the show, including Shorthorns, Polled Shorthorns, Milking Shorthorns, and Herefords. The 1942 show drew an entry of over 5,000 animals, and was the largest of its kind that year.
